

Prof. Nagendra Kaushik

KwangWoon University, Korea

Prof. Nagendra Kaushik has been working at the Department of Electrical and Biological Physics & Plasma Bioscience Research Center at Kwangwoon University in Seoul, South Korea since 2011. His research work is primarily focused on plasma bioscience, plasma agriculture, environment, nanobiotechnology, and biomaterials. He has published more than 150 high-impact publications, including many in top-ranked journals, and applied for several patents. Prof. Nagendra is serving as the editor of more than 20 journals including Scientific Reports, IEEE journals, Plos One, Frontiers journals and many others. He is also listed in World's Top 2% Scientists by Stanford University and Elsevier continuously since 2021.